Murphy's Law and Eternity:

Have you heard of Murphy's Law? There are many versions, but the basic notion of Murphy's Law is this: "If anything can go wrong, it will go wrong". Any Saturday mechanic, weekend repairman, or home owning handyman will have to admit that this Murphy, whoever he was, had pretty good insight. Skinned knuckles, stripped threads, broken parts, missing pieces, and malfunctioning equipment are a continuing testimony to the apparent accuracy of Murphy's pessimistic view.

However, there's one realm where this 'law' is clearly not true. Paul wrote, "And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God" (Romans 8:28). This is a wonderful promise, and a great blessing. But note; it is only for "them that love God", and we know that love for God must be demonstrated by humble obedience. "For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments" (1 John 5:3). Those who will not fully surrender to Him need not expect this outcome in their lives.

This is not to say that problems and difficulties don't happen to Christians. They do. Though we aren't of this world we still live in it. But if we have an eternal perspective and see the events of this life in relation to death, judgment, and eternity then we will be ready to agree that "all things work together for good". Ultimately, anything that makes us more like God wants us to be — anything that prepares us for a home in heaven — is a good thing.
